Report by Mr. Dhruva Sumanas of Bombay, received with his letter dated the 1st March 1917, on the prospects of starting the Bamboo Pulp Industry in the State.

2. Report dated the 31st March 1917, by Mr. William Raitt, Expert attached to the Forest Research Institute, Dehra Dhun, on the same subject.

3. Letter No. 3272, dated the 7th May 1917, from the Secretary, Industries and Commerce Committee, forwarding for orders an extract of paragraph 3 of the proceedings of the 56th meeting of the Committee containing the recommendation of the Committee in the matter.

4. Letter No. 12656, dated the 24th May 1917, from the Conservator of Forests in Mysore, forwarding report of the Special Forest Officer Mr. Rama Rao, together with his own opinion.

Order No. 10730-85—I. & C. 154-16-6, dated 30th June 1917.

The possibilities of starting an industry in the State for the manufacture of paper pulp, by utilising bamboos and other suitable raw materials available on a large scale in the forests of the State, have been under investigation for some time past, and the question has been thoroughly examined both by the local Forest Officers and also by two experts, viz., Messrs. Raitt and Dhruva Sumanas. The reports now before Government show that if machinery can be procured at a reasonable cost, the industry may be established on a very profitable basis. The Conservator of Forests and the Special Forest Officer appointed for the development of the forest resources of the State, both recommend that action may be taken on the lines suggested by Mr. Raitt in his report and are of opinion that even if coal has to be substituted for fuel the industry would be still sufficiently profitable.

2. The Industries and Commerce Committee after a careful consideration of the reports has submitted the following proposals for developing the industry:—

(i) That a plant with a capacity for manufacturing 10,000 tons of air-dry unbleached bamboo pulp per annum be erected at Shimoga or Benkipur as soon as possible after the war is over.

(ii) That in the meantime all the preliminaries connected with the scheme, such as the selection of site, provision of the necessary capital, construction of building and other details of management, etc., be satisfactorily settled.

(iii) That of the estimated cost of the scheme, viz., Rs. 23,00,000, half the capital be subscribed by Government, the public being given an opportunity of subscribing the other half, a suitable business prospectus being published to enable people in the State to participate in the profits of the scheme.

3. Government are pleased to approve of the recommendations of the Industries and Commerce Committee and appoint Mr. M. Rama Rao, Special Forest Officer, as the Officer in charge for the investigation of the preliminaries required to start the work, such as, selection of site, preparation of working plans for working bamboo areas, estimates for buildings, arrangements for the supply of machinery, requisite quantity of bamboo and fuel, etc. Mr. Rama Rao will be requested to take up the work at once and complete all the preliminaries in consultation with the Director of Industries and Commerce and the Conservator of Forests in three to six months' time and have everything connected with the scheme ready so that practical action may be taken, the moment conditions become favourable. A monthly report of progress made should be submitted by him for the information of Government through the Chairman of the Industries and Commerce Committee. He is also requested to prepare in consultation with the Secretary, Industries and Commerce Committee, a business prospectus for inviting shares from the public towards half the capital and forward the same for the approval of Government.

4. The Director of Industries and Commerce and the Secretary, Economic Conference, will be requested to make arrangements to place at the disposal of Mr. M. Rama Rao such sums as may be required for preliminary expenditure in connection with the scheme, a suitable provision being made in the budget for the purpose.

Correspondence ending with letter No. 426, dated 9th December 1916, from the Deputy Commissioner, Bangalore District, recommending that the Lubbe merchants of New Tharagupet in the Bangalore City may be accorded permission on certain conditions to construct a mosque on a site owned by them in the locality.

Order No. 2990-3—Muz. 281-11, dated 11th June 1917.

The Lubbe merchants trading in the New Thragupet in the Bangalore City applied to the Deputy Commissioner, Bangalore District, for permission to build a mosque for their use near their place of business, and as the site chosen for the purpose as the most convenient one, abutted on the Mysore Road, they agreed to have a line of shops in front shutting out the view of the Masjid and to have a through lane at one end by which the Masjid was to be approached. They also undertook for themselves and their successors not to claim at any time the privilege of stoppage of music for processions moving along the Mysore Road or Timber-yard street on either side of the Masjid or object to the construction of any temple or church in the neighbourhood. They further agreed to have these restrictive conditions inscribed on a slab at their cost to be let into the Masjid wall.

2. As the locality is a congested one and the Mysore Road itself is usually frequented by processional parties of various sorts, every precaution had to be taken to prevent all possible friction between the different communities; and as the result of further correspondence, the Lubbe merchants have now agreed to certain further conditions in matters of detail. The Government consider that there no longer remains any objection to the grant of permission for the construction of the Masjid on the site in question.

3. The Deputy Commissioner is accordingly requested to grant the permission after obtaining from the applicants and other leading members of the community a consolidated Mutchalika binding themselves to the conditions specified below.—

(1) That a lane at least six feet wide should be left to the east of the site connecting the Mysore Road and the Timber-yard street, allowing free access to pedestrians of all communities at all times.

(2) That there should be walls on both sides of the lane and the doorway giving the only access to the Masjid should open into this lane.

(3) That a line of shops at least 20 feet deep should be constructed separating the Masjid ground from the Mysore Road.

(4) That there should be no dome or minarets built over the shops.

(5) That between the shops and the Masjid proper there should be a space of at least 30 feet in which may be placed the water Hauz (cistern).

(6) That no dead body should be taken to the mosque for consecration and that if there should be any death on the premises, the body should be removed outside the Masjid for burial.

(7) That no objection should at any time be raised to the construction of any temple or other places of public worship or utility in the vicinity.

(8) That no claim shall at any time be put forward to the stoppage of music by processions of all sorts moving along the Mysore Road or Timber-yard street.

No. 2990-3—Muz. 281-11, dated 11th June 1917.

(9) That a substantial stone slab with a suitable inscription in Kannada and Hindustani showing the year of construction and the substance of the conditions 6, 7 and 8 as approved by Government should be built into the wall of the Masjid at a conspicuous position at the cost of the applicants.

4. The Deputy Commissioner is requested to submit for the information of Government a report on the action taken together with copies of the final Mutchalika. A revised plan in conformity with the above conditions has been presented by the Lubbe merchants and is placed on record. A separate license will have also to be obtained by the parties concerned from the Municipality for the construction of the buildings in question. A further report should be submitted by the Deputy Commissioner after the construction of the Masjid with special reference to the strict adherence by the applicants to the conditions specified. The plan and conditions should be printed at the expense of the Lubbe merchants for distribution to the various offices concerned.

Letter No. 117, dated 10th July 1916, from the Deputy Commissioner, Kolar District, recommending the restoration to the temple of Sri Gopalaswami in the village of Ankathatti, Kolar Taluk of certain inam lands granted originally to Sri Lakshminarayanaswami temple but resumed at the Inam Settlement, as the temple was in disrepair and as the enjoyment of the lands by Sri Gopalaswami temple was considered to be unauthorized.

Order No. 3171-4—Muz. 56-16-2, dated 27th June 1917.

Lands measuring 4-79 acres and assessed at 5p—4f—8v or Rs. 15-13-8 were granted in 1801 as inam to Sri Lakshminarayanaswami temple in the village. Later on the temple building fell into disrepairs and when the village happened to be extended, the Lakshminarayanaswami idol was removed and consecrated in the temple of Sri Gopalaswami and the inam lands were utilized for the benefit of both the deities. At the Inam Settlement of 1872 the lands were resumed and brought under assessment as the temple for the support of which the grant was made was in ruins and as the enjoyment of the inam by Sri Gopalaswami, though mentioned in the account of 1859, was unauthorized.

2. The temple of Sri Gopalaswami has since been thoroughly repaired by the villagers and arrangements have been made by them for the regular worship of both the deities. The villagers now pray for the restoration to the temple of the inam lands originally endowed to Sri Lakshminarayanaswami and the Deputy Commissioner recommends the prayer for the favourable orders of Government.

3. The lands now identified as having constituted the inam are 11 acres, 28 guntas in extent and asssessed at Rs. 30. They are reported to be in the possession of certain villagers who are willing and ready to relinquish them in favour of the temple, on condition of their being given in exchange 4½ acres of lands now lying waste, and the Deputy Commissioner considers that there is no objection to the grant.

4. Taking all the circumstances of the case into consideration, the Government are of opinion that some concession is due to the temple in view of the fact that the idol of Sri Lakshminarayanaswami is being worshipped there and that the temple has been recently repaired at considerable cost. They consider, however, that the temple will have been dealt with liberally if a jodi of half the assessment is levied and are accordingly pleased to sanction the grant of the lands to the temple as inam on a jodi of half the assessment.

JAIL MANUAL.

Annexure to Government Order No. 24—E. A. G., dated 12th May 1917.

CHAPTER I.

CLASSIFICATION OF JAILS.

The classification of jails given in Chapter I, is based on the existing practice as laid down in Sections 578 to 589 of the Mysore Jail Manual of 1894, as amended by Government Orders Nos. J. 1197-12-07, dated the 12th February 1903, and 387-97—Pris. 5-2, dated the 5th August 1905.

CHAPTER II.

THE INSPECTOR-GENERAL OF PRISONS.

2. Rule 6 (1).—Under Government Order No. 1672-76—10092-96, dated the 1st December 1913, the Inspector-General of Prisons may sanction expenditure for petty construction and repairs in the Central Jail at Bangalore up to a limit of Rs. 2,500. Rule 6 of the new manual is intended to confer on the Inspector-General of Prisons similar powers with respect to the District Jail at Mysore.

Rule 6 (3) & (4).—Clauses (3) and (4) of Rule 6 authorise the Inspector-General of Prisons to sanction the temporary employment in one jail of officials belonging to another jail without incurring an increase of cost.

Rule 8.—Rule 8 empowers the Inspector-General to sanction the institution of civil suits on behalf of Government.

CHAPTER III.

VISITORS.

3. Rule 14.—The list of official visitors given in Section 745 of the Mysore Jail Manual of 1894, has been revised and the following officers are now appointed ex-officio visitors of jails in the State:—

(1) The Chief Judge of Mysore,
(2) The Senior Surgeon,
(3) The Sanitary Commissioner,
(4) Sessions Judges, and
(5) District Magistrates.

Rule 15.—Rule 15 lays down that District Magistrates and Sessions Judges should visit the jail, if any, at their headquarters at least once a quarter. Hitherto no rules have been made regarding the intervals at which inspections by the official visitors should be held, and consequently it is feared these inspections were very much neglected.

Rules 16 and 17.—Rule 16 contemplates the appointment of non-official visitors (a practice not hitherto in vogue), and Rule 17 lays down instructions for their guidance.

CHAPTER VI.

THE MEDICAL SUBORDINATE.

4. The provisions of this chapter which require attention are (1) Rule 55 defining the extent of the disciplinary control which the Superintendent and Medical Officer may exercise over the Medical subordinates; and (2) Rule 56 requiring Sub-Assistant Surgeons attached to jails to maintain report books in a prescribed form.

CHAPTER VII.

SUBORDINATE OFFICERS GENERALLY.

5. Rule 74.—Rule 74 dealing with the training of subordinate Jail officers in musketry and drill is based on the recommendations made in this behalf by the Inspector-General of Prisons and approved by Government in Government Order No. J. 4636—Pris. 35-15-9, dated the 26th May 1916.

Rule 75.—Under Rule 75, the Superintendents of Jails are required to submit to the Inspector-General of Prisons at the close of every calendar year a report on each officer of the upper subordinate establishment, dealing with the officer's physique, general character, activity, knowledge of drill and fitness for promotion. The submission of this report does not dispense with the sending up of confidential reports on the working and character of officials drawing Rs. 70 and above, which is prescribed in Government Order No. G. 3137-76—G. M. 212-15-1, dated the 6th September 1915.

No. 24—E. A. G., dated 15th June 1917.

CHAPTER VIII.

Uniform of Jail Officers.

6. Rules regulating the supply of uniforms to jail officers were sanctioned by Government in their Order No. 24723—J. 1477, dated the 21st June 1895, and these rules were subsequently amended by Government Orders Nos. 3720—J. 438, dated the 20th September 1897, No. 3295-6—Pris. 72-06-02, dated the 2nd May 1908, and No. 3638-39—Pris. 57-08-2, dated the 22nd May 1909. Chapter VIII of the new manual reproduces in effect the existing rules on the subject of uniforms The only new provision is contained in Rule 125 which authorises the supply of uniform to female warders.

CHAPTER IX.

Security Deposits.

7. Rules 131 to 139.—Although Government Order No. Fl. 5217-62—Ml. 322-10, dated the 4th June 1912, requires every officer dealing with the public money to furnish security, this rule has not been strictly followed in the Department of Prisons. It is understood that the only jail officers furnishing security at present are the Jailers of the two jails. Rules 131 to 139 of the new Jail Manual lay down the amount of security to be demanded by the various grades of officers and the manner in which it should be furnished.

CHAPTER X.

The Jailer.

8 Rule 152—Rule 152 specifies the particulars which ought to be entered by the Jailer in his diary

CHAPTER XI.

The Deputy Jailer.

9. Rule 158 (a) and (g)—The duties of admitting and searching newly received prisoners and maintaining ration accounts and registers devolve upon the Deputy Jailer according to Rule 158, clauses (a) and (g) respectively. The former functions have been hitherto performed by the Jailer under Section 61 of the Mysore Jail Manual of 1894, and the latter functions by the Head Clerk in the jail office. The new arrangement while affording some relief to the Jailer is calculated to fix more specially the responsibility of the Deputy Jailer, in the matter of indenting for, and issuing rations.

CHAPTER XII.

Jail Clerks.

10. Rules 161 to 163.—The officers of the clerical staff of jails are at present designated "Assistant Jailers and Munshis." (Vide Government Orders Nos. 3033-7—J. 303, dated the 31st August 1896, and No. 11378-79—J. 1416, dated the 8th April 1899.) In Chapter XII of the new manual they are styled "Jail Clerks" a more appropriate designation, considering that they have no executive duties to perform.

In Rules 162 and 163 the principles on which duties should be assigned to the members of the clerical establishment are laid down.

CHAPTER XIV.

The Warder Establishment.

11. Rules 170, 171 and 172.—Rules 170 and 171 of the new Jail Manual empower the Inspector-General of Prisons in Mysore, to sanction additional temporary establishment in special circumstances and according to a prescribed scale. And by the next rule, the Superintendent is authorised to anticipate sanction for the entertainment of additional temporary establishment in emergencies.

Rule 184.—Rule 184 of the new manual introduces the system of awarding black marks to warders in lieu of, or in addition to, the punishments under the Prisons Act of 1870.

CHAPTER XVI.

Classification and Separation of Prisoners.

12. Rule 204.—Government in their Order No. J. 2072-83—Pris. 45-14-4, dated 30th November 1915, while reviewing the report on the administration of Jails and Lock-Ups in the State for the year 1914, have requested the Chief Court to issue necessary instructions to the magistrates to note, wherever possible, on every warrant whether a prisoner has undergone a previous conviction. Rule 204 of the new Manual further authorises the sentencing courts to classify prisoners as habitual or otherwise.

Rules 205 and 207.—Rules 205 and 207 also introduce a new practice. Under these rules the Superintendent is required to make enquiries on the admission of a prisoner, (convict or under-trial), and if he discovers any convictions not known to the police or to the Court, to communicate the same to the said authorities.

CHAPTER XVII.

ADMISSION OF PRISONERS.

13. Rule 229.—History Tickets are, it is understood, given in the Central Jail, Bangalore, to convicts sentenced to rigorous imprisonment for a period of one year and above. By Rule 229, these tickets are prescribed generally for all convicts in both the jails.

Rule 240.—Under the existing rules contained in the Jail Manual of 1894, the hair of a convict sentenced to rigorous imprisonment should be cut immediately after admission into the jail. But this procedure is modified by Rule 240 of the new manual which provides that the hair of a convict should not be cut until after the disposal of his appeal, if any, or if no appeal is preferred, till after the lapse of the appeal time. Further, discretion is given to the Superintendent to exempt from the operation of the rule prisoners to whom the cutting of hair would be offensive or degrading.

CHAPTER XIX.

OFFENCES AND PUNISHMENTS.

14. The acts constituting prison offences are enumerated in Section 47 of the Prisons Act of 1870, and the first of these offences, viz., disobedience to the regulations of the prison is explained at length in Rule 275 of the new manual. The succeeding rules deal with the circumstances in which a Superintendent should refer prison offences for enquiry by a Magistrate and those in which he may punish such offences himself.

The rest of the chapter deals with the different classes of punishments for jail offences, (viz., loss of remission, penal diet, solitary confinement, etc.,) and the principles and precautions to be observed in awarding them.

It is to be noted that under Section 48 of the Prisons Act, the Superintendent has no power to place a prisoner in irons as a punishment (unless he is also a Magistrate) and proceeds as such; vide Section 49 of the Act, though under Section 53, he may employ this form of restraint for the safe custody of a prisoner.

CHAPTER XX.

THE REMISSION SYSTEM.

15. There are two sets of rules in force at present under which the remission of sentences of prisoners for good conduct is regulated, viz., "The Ticket-of-Leave Rules" of 1892 and the "Mark Rules" of 1899. The former relate only to life-term prisoners, while the latter apply to all convicts (including lifers). The complication arising from the existence of a double set of rules is further increased by the manner in which the amount of remission is regulated. The grant of marks under the Mark System involves considerable labour and much scriptory work. This is avoided under the rules contained in Chapter XX of this Jail Manual which are largely based on the rules issued by the Government of India. The rules now prescribed supersede the Ticket-of-Leave Rules and the Mark Rules issued with Government Notifications Nos. 1937—J. 73-92, dated 30th July 1892 and 11737—J. 1457, dated 17th April 1899, respectively. The main features of the new rules are:—

(1) that remission is calculated for lifers as well as termers by the same set of rules.

(2) that the scale of remission is more liberal than the one hitherto in force;

(3) that the use of marks is dispensed with in deducing the period of remission earned;

(4) that the case of all life convicts sentenced to more than fourteen years' imprisonment or transportation, or transportation and imprisonment for terms aggregating fourteen years is, when the term of imprisonment undergone together with any remission earned under the rules amounts to fourteen years, required to be submitted to Government with a view to their determining whether release should be granted immediately, or on the completion of the prisoner's full term of imprisonment, and in either case conditionally or otherwise.

CHAPTER XXI.

GRADING OF CONVICTS AND CONVICT OFFICERS.

16. The rules now in force for the grading of convicts and convict officers appear as Part iii of Mark Rules issued with Government Notification No. 11737—J. 1457, dated 7th April 1899.

No. 24—E. A. G., DATED 15TH JUNE 1917.

The revised rules embodied in Chapter XXI of the New Manual are generally on the same lines, but introduce a few changes of importance.

The gratuity payable is increased from half an anna and nine pies in the case of 2nd and 1st class prisoners to one anna, and one and half anna respectively, per mensem, while the gratuity of three pies per mensem hitherto paid to 3rd class convicts is discontinued.

The rate of gratuity in the case of convict night-watchmen and overseers are also enhanced and fixed at four annas and eight annas respectively per mensem.

Convict warders have been hitherto divided into three grades and have been receiving gratuity at different rates, viz., eight annas, twelve annas and one rupee. These distinctions are abolished in the revised rules and the rate of gratuity payable to convict warders have been fixed at a uniform rate of one rupee.

In the case of interviews and the writing and receiving of letters, the rules now enacted are more liberal than those hitherto in force.

CHAPTER XXII.

DIETARY.

17 Chapter XXII on the dietary of prisoners practically reproduces the existing rules and practice and does not call for remarks

CHAPTER XXIII.

CLOTHING AND BEDDING.

18. Chapter XXIII regarding the clothing and bedding of prisoners also contains no material alterations in the existing practice. The only points requiring mention are:—(a) that separate clothing is prescribed for the three classes, Brahmins, Panchamas and others (vide Rule 343), (b) that the use of private clothing is enjoined in the case of convicts sent in custody to a Sessions Court to undergo trial in cases triable by Jury (see Rule 348) and (c) that the issue of clothing and bedding is prohibited except in accordance with indents passed by the Inspector-General of Prisons (vide Rule 360).

CHAPTER XXIV.

CONVICT LABOUR AND JAIL INDUSTRIES.

19. Rules 361 and 371.—Rule 627 of the 1894 edition of the Mysore Jail Manual distinguishes the different classes of labour to be allotted to prisoners as hard, medium and light, but the scale of task is not at present prescribed. The new Jail Manual (Rules 361, 371 and Appendix III, 5) makes provision in this behalf.

Rules 366 and 370 regarding the extra-mural employment of prisoners generally follow the existing orders of Government and the instructions issued by the Inspector-General of Prisons.

Rules 375 and 376 of the new Manual enunciate the principle on which the manufacturing department of a jail should be worked

CHAPTER XXV.

PRISONER'S PROPERTY.

20. The only provision to which attention need be drawn in Chapter XXV is Rule 390 which provides that unauthorised property found on a prisoner shall be forfeited to Government and that a portion of the proceeds of the sale thereof not exceeding one-half may be paid at the Superintendent's discretion to the officer discovering the property. This supersedes the existing practice under which the whole of the secreted articles up to the amount of Rs. 5 becomes the property of the finder (vide Rule 213 of the Mysore Jail Manual of 1894).

CHAPTER XXVI.

RELIGIOUS MINISTRATION.

21. Rule 391.—Rule 391 of the new Manual dealing with religious ministration amplifies Sections 663 and 664 of the Mysore Jail Manual of 1894 on the subject.

CHAPTER XXX.

ATTENDANCE OF PRISONERS AS WITNESSES.

22. Chapter XXX on the attendance of prisoners as witnesses in Court re-produces the rules framed by Government under Sections 8, 15, and 17 of the Prisoners Testimony Regulation of 1894 and published in Notification Nos. 18928—J. 1175, dated 23rd April 1895 (as amended by Notification No. 1739—J. 176, dated 3rd August 1898) and Notification No. 3826—J. 418, dated 7th September 1895 (as amended by Notification No. J. 1754—Police 36-5, dated 22nd December 1905).

No. 24—E. A. G., DATED 15TH JUNE 1917.

CHAPTER XXXII.

RELEASES.

23. Rules 461 to 467.—Section 519 of the Jail Manual of 1894 as amended by Government Order (Camp) No. 161, dated 16th April 1896 provides for Government in their discretion releasing prisoners whose life is endangered in Jail. Such release under the new rule (467) is made contingent on the acceptance by the prisoner of certain conditions regarding residence and conduct. Rule 465 for similar treatment in the case of prisoners suffering from incurable blindness or infirmity which incapacitates them for the commission of crime of the nature for which they are confined.

CHAPTER XXXIII.

GUARDING.

24. Rule 487.—Rule 487 specifies the circumstances in which the use of weapons against prisoners is permitted and the precautions to be observed in using them.

CHAPTER XXXIV.

CONFINEMENT IN IRONS FOR SECURITY.

25. Rule 497.—The only provision in this chapter to which it is necessary to draw attention is contained in Rule 497 and the explanation thereto. The object of the rules, as stated therein, is to prevent escapes and to restrict the too free movement of dangerous and violent prisoners and not as a punishment. The Superintendents are expected to use their powers with discretion and to remove any irons imposed for security as soon as they consider it can be done with safety.

CHAPTER XXXV.

ESCAPES.

26. Rule 503.—The Inspector-General of Prisons is empowered by Rule 503 to sanction the grant of rewards to the extent of Rs. 50 either to private individuals or public servants for recapturing escaped prisoners.

CHAPTER XXXVI.

OUTBREAKS.

27. Rule 511.—Chapter XXXVI deals with the procedure to be adopted when outbreaks occur in jails. The provisions noteworthy in this chapter are (a) Rule 511 which authorises the guard to open fire (after observing certain precautions) in order to quell disturbance, and (b) Rule 515 which provides for the holding of alarm parades in order to familiarise officers and prisoners with their respective duties in case of an outbreak.

CHAPTER XXXVII.

ACCIDENTS AND SUICIDES.

28. Rule 522.—The instructions contained in Rule 522 of the new Manual for the prevention and suppression of fires in jails require particular attention on the part of Superintendents.

CHAPTER XXXVIII.

MEDICAL ADMINISTRATION AND HOSPITAL MANAGEMENT.

29. Rules 556 and 557.—These rules require that camping grounds should be provided for jails. The Jail Manual of 1894 contained also rules to a similar effect, but it is understood that they have hitherto practically remained a dead letter. The provision of camping grounds is a necessary precaution against the occurrence of epidemics. The rules on the subject are therefore retained in the new manual. Early steps should be taken to provide camping grounds.

CHAPTER XXXIX.

SANITATION.

30. Rules 607 to 615.—The rules regarding drinking water wells contained in chapter XXXIX will have ordinarily no practical application to the jails at Bangalore and Mysore which obtain their supplies of water through pipes. But they may be found to be of use, should, for any reason, e.g., camping out during epidemics, wells were temporarily resorted to.

Rule 617.—Rule 617 provides following the corresponding rules in the Jail Manual of 1894, for the maintenance of separate burial grounds attached to jails. Necessary steps should be taken to provide suitable grounds.

No. 24—E. A. G., dated 15th June 1917.

CHAPTER XL.

THE JAIL GARDEN AND FARM.

31. Rule 621.—Rule 621 of the new Manual requires the Inspector-General of Prisons to fix in the case of each jail a percentage of prisoners that may be employed in the jail garden for gardening purposes and the jailer to show a profit at least of Rs. 3 per mensem for every prisoner detailed for gardening work in excess of the fixed number

CHAPTER XLII.

CIVIL PRISONERS.

32. Rule 631.—At present, no scale is prescribed for the issue of jail clothing to a civil prisoner in case of necessity, Rule 631 is intended to supply this omission

CHAPTER XLIX.

PRISONERS SENTENCED TO DEATH.

33. Rule 702.—Rule 702 lays down the procedure to be followed with regard to condemned prisoners in order to afford them an opportunity of petitioning the Government for mercy.

CHAPTER LI

JUVENILES.

34. Rule 737.—This chapter reproduces the existing provisions contained in the Jail Manual of 1894. Attention should however be drawn to the fact that the special scale of diet of juvenile prisoners contained in that manual is now omitted. Rule 737 lays down that juveniles who have attained puberty shall be allowed the scale of diet prescribed for labouring adult prisoners and those who have not attained puberty, the diet according to scale fixed for non-labouring adult prisoners. This rule is understood to be in accordance with the practice followed in the jails of the State since the introduction of the vegetarian diet scale.

CHAPTER LVI.

REGISTERS.

35. Rule 769.—A list of registers to be maintained in jails is laid down under Rule 769 of the new Manual. The following are additional registers prescribed by the manual:—

i. Release Diary and Bhatta Book.
ii. Labour Register.
iii. Remission Sheets.
iv. Ball Practice Register.
v. Stock Book of Civil Stores.
vi. Day Book of Realizations.
vii. Register of Inter and Intra Departmental Supplies.
viii. Register of Manufacturing Plant.
ix. Hospital Roll.

CHAPTER LVII.

REGISTERS OF GENERAL DEPARTMENT.

36. Rule 789.—According to the Rule 789, three registers should be maintained by the gate-keeper instead of one as at present, viz.:—

(1) Register of persons other than prisoners and warders passing through the main-gate.
(2) Register of prisoners and warders passing through the main-gate.
(3) Register of articles, etc., passed through the main-gate.

CHAPTER LVIII.

CASH TRANSACTIONS AND FINANCIAL ACCOUNTS.

37. Chapter LVIII deals with cash transactions and financial accounts maintained in jails. The rules contained in the chapter are an adaptation, with special reference to jails, of the rules which regulate financial procedure in all departments of Government.

Rule 808.—Rule 808 lays down in detail the classification of jail expenditure. The sub and detailed heads slightly differ from the usual budget heads, the chief variations being as follows:—

(a) Under sub-head "Hospital charges," an additional detailed head, viz., "B. Cost of extra or special diet, etc., for prisoners who are in weak health, but who are not in hospital" is provided.

(b) The combined head "Sanitation charges, miscellaneous services and supplies" is split up into two heads, viz., (i) "Sanitation charges" and (ii) "Miscellaneous services and supplies." Under the former again, an additional detailed head is given, viz., "Extraordinary charges" and under the latter, an additional head "F. Other miscellaneous services and supplies" is similarly provided.

(c) Lastly, a new sub-head, viz., "Extraordinary charges for live-stock, plant and tools" has been provided.

These additional heads will be opened in the budget also. This will bring the budget classification of expenditure into line with that given in statement No. IX of the Annual Statistics of the Prisons Department.

CHAPTER LIX.

STATISTICAL AND OTHER RETURNS.

38. The Superintendent of Jails have been submitting to the Inspector-General of Prisons the following statistical returns every month:—

(1) Statement of distribution of prisoners,
(2) Surgeon's and Magistrate's return,
(3) Work sheet of prisoners,
(4) Casualty roll of prisoners, and
(5) A certificate on the examination of registers and cash.

Statements Nos. 2, 3 and 4 mentioned above appear to be defective and do not fully serve the purpose for which they were intended. They are now dispensed with and the following monthly returns which give more complete and useful information are substituted:—

(a) Statement showing the number and disposal of convicts,
(b) Statement showing the offences committed by convicts and the punishments inflicted,
(c) Statement showing the employment of convicts, and (d) Statement showing the condition of convicts discharged.

39. Rule 851.—Rule 851 of the new Manual lays down the method for fixing the price of manufactured articles which is calculated by taking into consideration the following:—

(1) The cost of raw materials.
(2) The value of jail labour rated according to that of free labour of the same class in the neighbourhood with an allowance for inferiority of convict labour.
(3) A percentage for wear and tear.
(4) A percentage for profits.

Rule 863.—Rule 863 enables the sale of manufactured articles on credit with certain precautions as follows:—

(a) to officials of the jail to the extent of half their monthly salary,
(b) to such private firms and such classes of Government officers as the Inspector-General may approve, and (c) to private persons on the personal responsibility of the Superintendent.

Rule 864.—Rule 864 provides that the Superintendents of Jails shall once a year take stock of all articles (manufactured goods, raw materials and plant and tools). This is a very necessary check, but has not, it is understood, been generally applied hitherto.

Rule 866.—Rule 866 of the new Manual requires that statements of outstanding debts due to, as well as by, the jail shall be sent up for the information of the Inspector-General of Prisons once in six months in the form prescribed for the purpose. These statements contain information as to the steps taken for the recovery of all longstandings due to jails. This rule supersedes the present practice, according to which the Superintendents have been sending up to the Inspector-General lists of outstandings due to jails every month.

CHAPTER LXI.

MEDICAL REGISTERS AND FORMS.

40. Rules 867 to 877.—Chapter LXI on the Medical Registers and Forms practically reproduce the existing rules and provisions and calls for no remarks.

CHAPTER LXII.

PRESERVATION AND DESTRUCTION OF RECORDS.

41. Rules 878 to 885.—The question of issuing rules for the preservation and destruction of records in jails was deferred for consideration along with the draft of the new Jail Manual, when similar rules relating to the records of the lock-ups were issued. Chapter LXII of the new Manual accordingly makes provision in this behalf.

GENERAL AND REVENUE DEPARTMENTS.

READ—

Government Order No. 152—E A. G , dated the 18th January 1917, deputing Mr. N Madhava Rao, Assistant Secretary to Government, Efficiency Audit Branch, to visit the offices at headquarters and the District Office Mysore, in which the Disposal Number System has been adopted with a view to ascertain and report upon the working of the system

2. Mr. N. Madhava Rao's notes on the registers of the several offices visited by him.

Order No. 152—E. A. G., dated 27th June 1917.

The following are reported to be the more common defects noticed in the working of the Disposal Number System in the several offices :—

(1) Arrear currents not grouped according to the year of their origin, but entered indiscriminately in one series.

(2) Correspondence on the same subject entered in more registers than one at different stages.

(3) Stock list of periodicals not maintained in some offices and incomplete in others.

(4) Returns not entered in chronological order in the register of periodicals

(5) Irregular filing of periodicals under initial numbers in some cases and under disposal numbers in others.

(6) Authorised list not maintained of papers that need not be registered.

(7) Personal registers not maintained at all or maintained carelessly.

(8) References issued as final disposals and vice versa.

(9) Want of discrimination in marking disposals for permanent retention (R. Dis).

(10) Issue of final communications without a disposal number.

(11) Separate indexes unnecessarily maintained for the R and D series of disposals of the same branch.

(12) Use of wrong catchwords in indexing.

(13) Neglect of the monthly check of arrears.

(14) Circular files not properly maintained.

(15) The stock list and ledger of registers not exhaustive and in some cases not maintained at all.

These defects will be brought to the notice of heads of offices in which the system has been introduced.

2. It is reported that there is a want of uniformity as regards the registers maintained under the Disposal Number System in the Offices of Deputy Commissioners. The arrangements indicated in Appendix I to this order will, in future, be followed, any local variations necessary being reported for the information of Government. If the Disposal Number System has not been adopted in the Treasury and Marahmat or any other branch of the Deputy Commissioner's Office, the omission should be rectified from the beginning of the next official year.

No. 152—E. A. G., DATED 27TH JUNE 1917.

3. It is stated that there is some uncertainty felt as to how far the general record room and staff of the Deputy Commissioner's Office should be available for the custody of Treasury, Local Fund and Judicial records. The Revenue Commissioner will be requested to ascertain the practice in this respect in the several districts and report the same to Government with his proposals for centralising the work connected with the custody and arrangement of records in the Deputy Commissioner's Office.

4. In view of the defects noticed and of the various suggestions received by Government since the Disposal Number System was introduced, the rules will be amended as in Appendix II.

The one feature of the revised rules to which it is necessary to draw attention is that three series of disposals instead of two are prescribed so as to facilitate the easy separation of papers which have to be preserved permanently, for ten years and for two years respectively.

APPENDIX II.

RULES OF CORRESPONDENCE.

Disposal Number System.

I. INTRODUCTION.

Brief explanation of the Disposal Number System.—The practice hitherto has been to register inward correspondence in one book or in one set of books and the outward correspondence in a different book or set of books. Under the Disposal Number System all papers whether they form inward or outward correspondence are registered in one register known as the "Current Register" and all entries relating to a particular correspondence are grouped together. This continues so long as the correspondence is pending. When disposal is reached, that is to say, when the file is closed, it is carried forward to what is called the disposal list and there serially numbered, this serial number being noted at the same time in the current register. The disposal number is put on the communication or order closing the correspondence and becomes the number of the entire file by which it is ever afterwards known.

2. The Disposal Number System thus employs two registers which at first sight might appear to resemble the "From" and "To" Registers now in use, but the resemblance is only superficial.

The current register is intended to keep track of all correspondence both inward and outward, till it is disposed of. It is a combined register of receipts and issues, and the entries relating to any particular correspondence are grouped together so as prominently to show the stage at which the correspondence stands and whether it is pending in the office or outside.

3. The disposal list is not the ordinary "To" Register. It takes no note of intermediate communications but only of disposals, that is, letters or orders which close a correspondence, and these orders need not necessarily be communicated to any one; papers which are recorded in the office are, for instance, entered in the list. The disposal list is a register of disposed of files entered in such a way that their recording, indexing, arrangement in the record room and destruction could be effectually regulated thereby. It controls the work of the record staff, while the current register controls that of the disposing staff.

4. The current register is maintained in divisions so as to separately register ordinary correspondence, petitions, periodical returns, etc., but this arrangement is only one of convenience and is not an integral portion of the system.

5. Similarly, the disposal list is written in three series representing important, ordinary and routine papers. The former have to be permanently preserved and the latter for specified periods prescribed in the schedules framed for the purpose.

6. It has been stated above that the initial number given to a paper is continued, while it remains current, but that on disposal it is given a fresh serial number in the disposal list. The object of this is that there should be no break or discontinuity in the numbering of the files sent to the record room, and that they might be arranged in the order of their numbers. This makes abstraction impossible.

7. Chronological filing system and its defects. There are two systems of record arrangement in vogue at present. Under the one, papers received and those issued are arranged chronologically in separate series. This is a simple arrangement and one which utilises the "From" and "To" numbering and registers. But it is antiquated and inconvenient for reference and has been given up in all modern business.

8. Subject bundle system and its defects.—The other arrangement consists in grouping together papers relating to the same subject. This has certain advantages, namely, that it facilitates referencing where it is carefully worked, but unfortunately it gives no guarantee that it is so worked. The "From" and "To" registers are of no use for the final record arrangement. The unit of registry is an individual paper, while the unit of record arrangement is a subject bundle and the two do not dovetail into one another. The merit of the system prescribed by these rules is that the unit of registry as well as of record arrangement is a file and the disposal list is an exact inventory of the records. And the fact that this inventory is prepared simultaneously with the issue of the order or communication closing a file ensures that every paper received in the office is transmitted to the record room as soon as it has ceased to be current. That which is not wanted is always in the way and one fruitful source of confusion and delay at present is the habit of clerks keeping with them disposed of papers along with those which have to be worked up.

9. But perhaps the greatest drawback of the subject arrangement is that it is puzzling and that the precise category under which a paper falls is often-times difficult to determine. As the result of doubt in this regard, files received in the record room are indefinitely left over without being arranged on the shelves. The Disposal Number System dispenses with all record sorting and adopts a simple numerical arrangement or proper referencing it is no doubt necessary that this should be supplemented by a subject index but such an index is comparatively easy to prepare when once the records are in order. Indexing possesses this advantage over sorting, that it admits of classification under any number of subjects. And just as the disposal list places a ready means of controlling delay in handing over disposed of papers into the record room, it also furnishes a check over delay in the indexing of papers.

10. One other disadvantage of the subject bundle system is that a file has no finality and can be added to as a fresh correspondence crops up. The earlier disposals are merged in and obscured by the later disposals and the accountability of the record establishment for disposed of papers is thereby weakened and referencing rendered difficult. If the later disposals strictly arose from or were vitally connected with the earlier papers, the harm would not be so great, but frequently papers remotely connected with a subject are put up with and are absorbed in a later file. This leads to difficulty in tracing the papers and if recovered, they would be found mixed up with many unrelated papers.

Under the Disposal Number System, such inconvenience cannot arise. A file which is once closed with a disposal number is never re-opened and further correspondence, if any, must go into another file to which the former is chained.

11. Business statistics.—The difference between issues which dispose and those which do not forms the main principle of the system and enables business statistics being prepared on a rational and comprehensive basis. At present the business statistics reveal very little that is worth knowing. There is no definition of disposal and the smallest reference sent out on a paper is held to conclude it. According to these rules no paper is to be treated as having been disposed of till an office has completed the work for which it is responsible and the list of papers not so disposed of can be accurately made out from the current register.

12. The disposal list on the other hand furnishes an equally accurate record of arrears in sending disposed of papers to the record room and in indexing them, operations which are at present susceptible of little control.

13. The periodical system.—Periodicals which differ from ordinary correspondence in having a fixed date are displayed with current numbers beforehand in a special register instead of being booked as they arise like ordinary correspondence.

II. DEFINITIONS.

14. A "Current" is a paper which whether it arises in the office or is received therein from outside, initiates a correspondence.

15. A "File" is a bundle of papers forming a connected correspondence. It begins with a current and ends with a disposal. Office notes, etc., are also included in a file.

16. A "Disposal" means a communication or order by which a correspondence is closed and the responsibility of an office (as regards such correspondence) discharged. The term 'disposal' is used also to indicate a disposed of file.

17. A "Reference' is an intermediate communication calling for information, asking for orders and so forth.

18. "Recorded" is one of the forms of disposal. It means "keep in the office and do not communicate." Recorded papers should be carried foward to the appropriate disposal list, important or ordinary series, i.e., (R or D_1) and there numbered. They should also be indexed like any other disposal.

19. "Lodged' is one of the forms of disposal and means "keep in the office and do not communicate." It differs from "Recorded" in that it is used of papers of ephemeral importance which may go into the routine series (D_2) and may be destroyed after two years. Lodged papers need not be indexed.

No. 152—E. A. G., DATED 27TH JUNE 1917.

III. REGISTRATION OF PAPERS.

20. Registers required.—The most important of the several registers required to be maintained in an office are the current registers and the periodical registers. They take up all papers which are in a pending stage whether they have been received in the office or have arisen in the office and operate as useful checks on the work of the office generally to the stage at which papers are handed over to the Record-keeper.

In addition to these registers the following special current registers must be maintained where necessary:—

(1) Register of papers received from higher offices.
(2) Petition register.
(3) Register of papers received in camp or tour register.

Whether all or any of these additional registers are to be maintained in particular offices will depend upon the volume and nature of their work. In the case of very small offices with little correspondence one current register and one periodical register will suffice. The petition register is unnecessary in an office in which the number of petitions received does not exceed 50 a year on an average vide G. O. No. 8721-70—E. A. 33-14-1, dated 11th February 1915. The Tour Register is of course intended only for offices the Heads of which are required to tour.

21. The current register will be in Form I (Appendix).

22. Each independent branch of an office may keep its own current register (running for the official year) or one register may be maintained for the whole office, according to convenience and practice.

In the case of papers arising in the office, columns 2 and 3 should be left blank.

Differences of language should not be recognised in registering, which must always be in English, whatever the language of the correspondence may be.

The general principle of registering is that there is only one current entry and one current number for each file. From this principle it follows that the reply to a reference should not be entered as a new item but should appear under column 9.

A reminder received on a current should not be shown as a new item but should be entered under columns 2 and 3 in red ink.

Reminders sent to other offices should be entered in red ink under column 8.

Ample space should be left under each entry for making subsequent entries.

Papers registered in one of the special current registers (e. g., periodical, petition or current registers for higher offices) need not be registered in the general current register. The object is that the several registers should not overlap one another. Papers registered in the tour register should, however, be transferred to the current register as early as practicable.

The entries should be very brief and particular care should be taken to underline the catchword in column 5.

Three months after the close of each official year, that is to say, on the 1st October all papers of the previous year remaining undisposed of should be carried forward under their old numbers to the new year's current register, a few pages being left blank for the purpose. When an entry in the current registers is thus carried forward, the fact should be noted against the entry under column 8 of the original register thus:— Vide No.. ..... in the register of ....

23. Periodical register.—Periodicals are not registered in the current registers but in the special register kept for that purpose which will be maintained in Form II (Appendix).

24. The periodical register is written in the same way as the ordinary current register, but columns 2, 3, 4 and 5 are entered beforehand once a quarter. Like the current register, this is a combined register of periodicals coming into the office as well as of periodicals sent out of it.

25. The stock list of periodicals.—A list of periodicals for the submission, scrutiny or review of which an office is responsible should be kept in every office and changes, if any, should from time to time be posted in it. This is a permanent list and should be kept in Form III (Appendix). Each periodical is numbered in the stock list and to each issue of a periodical a subsidiary number is given. Thus if the return of fresh men entertained in service bears the number 50 and is a quarterly, the return for the first quarter will be periodical No. 50·1, for the second quarter 50·2, for the third quarter 50·3 and for the fourth quarter 50·4. Similarly in the case of a monthly return bearing No. 60, the return for the first month will be 60·1, for the second 60·2 and so on.

From this list the periodical register is prepared by entering in it at the commencement of each quarter the several returns and reports in the order of their falling due. A monthly return should be booked twelve times in the register and a quarterly four times and so on. If a return is obtained from ten offices, say, for review or for sending up a consolidated return to a higher office, it should be booked only once in the register, the names of the ten offices furnishing information being noted in column 7.

26. Register for correspondence with higher offices.—The headings of the several columns of this register are exactly the same as those of the general current register.

27. Petition register.—All petitions addressed to the office whether sent by post or presented in person should be entered in this register which will be maintained in Form IV (Appendix.)

NOTE.—1. Endorsed petitions received from higher authorities for disposal should be entered as ordinary papers in the current register and should not be brought into the petition register.

2. The form of petition register prescribed by G. O. No. 8721-70—E. A. 33-14-1, dated 11th February 1915, and the instructions given therein for writing it up will be regarded as superseded in offices in which the disposal number system is introduced.

28. Tour register.—Papers received in Camp by touring officers should be entered in this register and sent as early as practicable for being entered in the appropriate current register of the office. The tour register is exactly similar in form to the current register.

No. 152—E. A. G., DATED 27TH JUNE 1917.

29. Numbering currents.—Every new current should be numbered consecutively and the number should be entered in red ink at the top of the first page of the paper. The name of the branch or of the technical register should invariably be affixed as also the year thus:—current No. 50 (Magisterial) 1915-16. In the case of petitions and periodicals, the word "Petition" or "Periodical" as the case may be should be substituted for "Current." Papers entered in the tour register should be numbered in the same manner as those in the current register except that the word "tour" is substituted for the word "current."

30. Papers that need not be registered.—The general rule is that every paper received in an office should be registered in the appropriate "Receive" register. But where special and technical registers are maintained in respect of any classes of papers, e.g., loan applications, darkhasts, etc., they need not be entered in the current register. Papers of obviously transitory importance such as post cards of rain gauge readings, plague and cholera reports of other districts, if numerous or frequent, need not be entered in the registers. A list of papers which need not be registered should be prepared and maintained in each office under the sanction of the Head of the Department.

IV. REFERENCING AND DRAFTING.

31. Transfer of papers to disposing clerk.—Every current as soon as it is registered should be handed over to the clerk who deals with the subject to which it relates, the name or designation of the clerk and the date on which it is so handed over being entered under column 7 of the current register. The initials of the clerk to whom the paper is given should be taken in the current register against the entry of the paper. Where this is not found practicable, a small book may be kept in which the numbers alone of the currents should be noted and the initials of the clerk to whom the papers have been handed over obtained. These precautions, however, are generally unnecessary in the case of small offices.

32. The duties of the disposing clerk are:—

(1) To register the papers in his personal register, if one is kept under the rules below.

(2) To cause previous papers to be put up.

(3) To carry the current through all subsequent stages till he is relieved by disposal.

The maximum time allowed for referencing will be ordinarily seven days. In important or emergent cases the time must of course be less. If it proves impossible to draft on a paper within the maximum period, it must be put up for perusal with a remark to that effect.

33. Personal register of disposing clerk.—In offices in which there are more than five clerks, disposing clerks should be required to maintain a personal register in Form V (Appendix).

The register will be maintained as follows:—

When a paper is given to a disposing clerk, he will enter in column 1 the number which the paper bears in the current register and the date on which he received it; and should the papers be disposed of without an intermediate reference, he will enter the disposal in column 4.

Should an intermediate reference be sent out, he will enter in column 2 the date on which it is issued and the name of the officer to whom it is sent; when the reply is received, the number given to the reply by the outside office and the date of its receipt will be entered in column 3; if there are further intermediate references and replies, further entries will be made in the same way in columns 2 and 3 until the file is closed by the entry of the disposal number in column 4. The abstract of the original current may be entered briefly in column 1, but this is not essential. When a current is sent to be referenced, the fact should be noted in the column of "Remarks."

Note.—If the disposing clerk has to keep any special registers for the maintenance of which he is solely responsible, the papers entered in them need not be entered again in his Personal Register The special registers will be sufficient check for all purposes

34. When previous papers are required for reference, the disposing clerk should look up the indexes and disposal lists and requisition for the records needed on the prescribed slips. The Record-keeper is responsible for furnishing the records asked for without undue delay, but the disposal clerk should see the paper through this stage.

35. Modes of disposal.—When a paper cannot be disposed of without calling for further information, the communication for the purpose should issue as a reference. (Vide Rule 17.)

36. When it cannot be disposed of pending the disposal of another current or pending the receipt of a promised further communication, it should be put by with a remark to the effect "to lie over pending, etc." The remark should be copied in pencil in the disposal columns of the current register, and cancelled as soon as it becomes possible to dispose of the case.

37. When all the information required for the disposal of a paper is ready and the final communication may issue, it would be a disposal and the series R, D_1 or D_2 into which it should go depends on whether it should be retained permanently or for a period (ten years or two years). A disposal is such a final order as closes the file and renders it ready to receive a disposal number and to be indexed and put in the record. (Vide Rule 6.)

38. Disposal may be effected, however, without issuing any communication.

When for instance a paper requires no action but has to be retained, it should be put by with the order "recorded" or "lodged." In the former case it would be registered in the R series if it is to be permanently retained, and in the D_1 series if its preservation is limited to a period of ten years and it would be numbered like any other disposal and indexed. Where under similar circumstances a paper of a routine character has to be retained for a short period, it should be "lodged." It would then be entered as a disposal in the D_2 series and destroyed after two years.

Whether a paper should go out as a reference or as a disposal and in the latter case the series in which it should be entered must be determined by the drafting clerk in consultation with the head of the branch.

39. Communications addressed to subordinate officers which do not call for a report or a reply of some kind and those addressed to superior authorities which do not call for orders or instructions on any point or to which no reply is awaited from the superior office should be treated as finally disposed of.

40. Papers endorsed out in original.—Many disposals can go through the office endorsed in original on the current. For these office copies need not be kept nor need any entry be made in the disposal list, nor need a disposal number be given. But a copy or abstract of the disposal should be given in the last column of the current register.

It is to be observed that this rule is applicable only when all the papers without exception are sent out along with the disposal. If any papers are left behind, e.g., office papers, the file must be treated as an ordinary disposal, for otherwise there will be no place in which under these rules the papers left behind can lie.

41. References can go through the office endorsed in original. A copy or an intelligent abstract of the endorsement should, in such cases, be entered in column 8 of the current register.

42. Miscellaneous points to be attended to in drafting.—In quoting the letter under reply, the number as well as any symbols that may have been appended to it should be quoted.

Paragraphs in drafts must always be numbered.

Months quoted in drafts must always be by name and not by number.

In heading letters, the name and designation of the writer and of the addressee should be given.

Care should be taken to enter at the foot of every draft:—

(1) The address entries, i.e., the designation of each officer to whom the communication is to be sent, with the enclosures to accompany it to each address.

(2) The despatch docket, i.e., the abstract of the paper to be written on the outside docket.

43. When a draft prepared by a clerk is sent up for the approval of the superior officer, the draft with the current or currents should be placed at the top, and the papers put up for reference should be arranged below in chronological order.

44. Previous papers put up should not be filed together, nor placed either one inside the other or inside the current. They should simply be tied together by means of a tape, the oldest paper being at the bottom.

45. Procedure before drafts are given disposal numbers.—When a draft has been passed by the superior officer and returned to the office, the disposing clerk should:—

(1) detach all enclosures which are to go in original,

(2) detach and destroy in the presence of the head of the branch all reminders and chits not intended for record,

(3) page the file in red ink and

(4) enclose the file together with a pheristor list of contents, if it is of the R or D, series (vide Rule 37), in a despatch docket sheet and cause it to be stiched with a stout thread on the top of the left hand corner.

In the case of routine disposals (i.e., D_2 series) each file should be stitched at one corner with a plain paper as fly leaf on which should be noted the department to which the file belongs, its disposal number with date and the year of destruction.

The despatch docket sheet of which a specimen is given in the appendix, vide Form VI, is a cover of cartridge paper with printed headings for entering the disposal number and date, the officer or officers to whom sent, the date of despatch, the abstract of the disposal, the back and forward numbers and number of pages in the file, the series R or D_1 and the year of destruction. All the entries should be carefully made.

46. After this the disposing clerk should pass on the files with drafts to the disposal list clerk for entry in the disposal list.

47. One of the most important duties of a disposing clerk is to note the chains of reference. He should enter on the docket sheet under the heading "back papers" the date and the number of the previous disposal numbers put up for the current or currents disposed of where such papers are not mere precedents but are absolutely necessary for a proper understanding of the previous history of the case. Similarly, he should enter under the heading "further papers" on the docket sheets of the disposal numbers put up, the date and number of the present disposal. For example, if a disposal No. 200, dated 15th April 1915, has a disposal No. 100, dated 1st March 1915, put up for it, the disposing clerk should when enclosing the later disposal in the docket sheet note on it as follows:—

Back papers No. 100, dated 1st March 1915, and on the docket sheet of the earlier disposal (No. 100, dated 1st March 1915) as follows:—

Further papers No. 200, dated 15th April 1915.

It is essential that the chaining should be very carefully done, as otherwise there would be difficulty in getting together related papers.

The disposing clerk should return the put-up files to the record room and obtain back and cancel the requisition slips therefor. The Record-keeper should immediately place the returned files in their respective places and note the date of return in the issue register.

V. ENTERING DISPOSAL LIST AND DISPOSAL NUMBERS.

48. Disposal list in its three series.—The disposal list should be written up concurrently with the fair copying of the drafts. There should be separate disposal list for each branch in three series R, D_1 and D_2. The first or R series comprises disposals of importance which are to be preserved permanently. The D_1 series consist of ordinary disposals which may be destroyed after a period of ten years or more. The D_2 series consist of routine papers which need not be retained for more than two years. The disposal lists should have the following columns vide Form VII (Appendix.)

No. 152—E. A. G., DATED 27TH JUNE 1917.

R SERIES (IMPORTANT).

1. Serial number.
2. Date of disposal, if on a current or currents received ; if not, date of issue.
3. Current or currents disposed of.
4. Officer to whom the disposal is addressed.
5. Number, year and branch of the previous disposals on the same subject.
6. Number, year and branch of the further papers on the subject.
7. Copy of record abstract.
8. Date of despatch.
9. Date of receipt of the disposal file by the Record-keeper with initials.
10. Date on which the file was indexed with initials of Indexer.

D_1 SERIES (ORDINARY).

Same as above, with the following additional column 11, "If not to be destroyed ten years hence, year of destruction."

D_2 SERIES (ROUTINE).

Same as for R Series with columns 5, 6 and 10 omitted.

49. The determination of the disposal series under which a paper should appear is a very responsible piece of work and one which requires to be done with extreme care. It should never be delegated to any official who is not of sufficient standing. As the series are noted on the drafts when they come for approval, the superior officer would have an opportunity of correcting any mistakes that may be made in this respect.

50. Numbering disposals and entering disposal lists.—Disposals should be numbered like currents and the name of the branch, if any, should be exhibited. The skeleton formula with the series to which a disposal belongs should be invariably furnished by the drafting clerk thus:—R. Dis. No .. ..Revenue, dated..... .....

Disposals sent out in original should be numbered thus:—

"N. Dis. on current number..... .....(Revenue) dated....." The date is the date of the disposal and not of the current.

The disposal list clerk merely fills in the number and date. The abstract of column 7 of the disposal list should be brief, but at the same time give such information as is compatible with brevity. It should clearly indicate how the paper was disposed of and the important word or phrase should be underlined.

The entries of chaining are taken from the despatch docket sheets and care should be taken not only to chain the disposal in hand backward, but also to chain previous disposals forwards.

The disposal list should invariably be posted before fair-copying or at any rate before despatch. After despatch the disposal list clerk should fill in column 8 of the disposal list and before sending the papers to the Record-keeper, should circulate the files to the clerks concerned for making entries in the current, periodical and personal registers.

The Record-keeper's initials should be obtained in the disposal list against each entry and the Record-keeper should see that the disposal files are in order and properly paged and stitched. Incomplete and undisposed of files should under no circumstances be sent to or received in the Records and the Record-keeper should decline to take any file, the closing order of which is not attested by a superior officer. Similarly, disposed of files should never be unnecessarily detained by the disposing clerks.

51. Disposals which have not been communicated, e.g., recorded and lodged files should also be transferred to the record room from day to day like communicated disposals.

Papers to be lodged should be given a disposal number in the D_3 Series and against the entry in the current register, the word 'lodged' with number and date should be entered in the last column.

52. In the case of copy applications, rain reports and other papers of an unimportant and recurring nature, it is sufficient if they are bundled up in chronological order and transferred once a year or oftener, if neccessary, at fixed intervals to the record room. The papers which might be dealt with under this rule should be defined for each office. They should be tied up in separate bundles as they are disposed of and when transferred to the record room, an entry should be made in the disposal list (D_2 Series) below the entries of regular disposals thus :—

"50 Rainfall reports of 1916" or "200 copy applications of 1916."

53. Numbering references.—References should bear the number of the current thus:—

Reference on current No. 100 Magisterial of 1915-16, dated the 15th April 1916, or shortly, reference 100-15, dated 15th April 1916. The date given to a reference is the date on which it is sent. It is not the date of the current.

References are registered only in the current register. But if they are numerous or if a separate account of them is desired as a ready help for issuing timely reminders, the maintenance of a separate Reference Register in Form VIII (Appendix) is suggested. References issued should be simultaneously noted in this register and in the Current Register and the receipt of replies should also be similarly entered.

VI. INDEXING.

54. The maintenance of an index is an essential part of the disposal number system and no effort should be spared to ensure due performance of this important duty. In the absence of an index the laborious process of searching the disposal registers may have to be gone through, if a person who remembers a particular correspondence on a subject cannot quote the number and date of such correspondence.

All disposals of the R Series and the D_1 Series should be indexed. The head of the office should occasionally scrutinise the work and see that it is carefully performed.

He should periodically examine the disposal lists in the R and D_1 Series and satisfy himself by reference to the entries in column 10 of these lists that there has been no undue delay in indexing disposal files. He should also examine the disposal list of the D_2 Series to see that no important papers likely to be required for future reference are included in it by inadvertence or in order to avoid the trouble of indexing.

55. Instructions for Indexing.—Indexing should be done on loose forms which should be bound up at the end of the year. The system of indexing to be followed is the alphabetical. The abstract of the purport in the index, the docket on the despatch sheet and the abstract in the disposal list should be identical. The catchword in the docket should be the index word or one of such words. The index words should be such as to facilitate the tracing of precedents and for this purpose the words selected should be of a general nature, but not too general. That is, they should be sufficiently restricted, if possible, to prevent so large a number of entries coming under one heading as to impair the usefulness of the index for ready reference. Special attention should be paid to cross-referencing and care should be taken to index a file under all the words under which it might possibly be looked up and especially under the names of the persons and of places, if any, concerned.

VII. CHECKING ARREARS.

56. The secret of checking arrears consists in carefully closing the current and periodical registers. If a current register shows no entry in either of the two last columns it means that it is pending in the office. If it shows an entry in column 8 and no entry corresponding to it in 9, it is against some other office. If it shows an entry in the last column, it is out of the hands of the office as an arrear and is part of the record. The last columns of the Periodical Register are also similarly arranged.

57. The following are the entries for closing the Current and Periodical Registers and no others are permitted:—

(a) in lodged papers, the word "Lodged" with the number in the disposal list (D_2 Series) and date,
(b) in recorded papers, the word "Recorded" with number in R or D_1 list and date.
(c) (where the disposal has been sent in original) the words "N. Dis." with date and initials of the head of the office,
(d) when carried forward to the next year's register, an entry to that effect,
(e) when transferred to another current entry, a remark to that effect.
(f) in all other cases, the number, year and branch of the disposal.

58. Check by chief ministerial officer.—The ministerial head of the branch or office should examine the current and personal registers of his office or branch once a week at least to see that reminders are being promptly issued and that there is no undue delay in disposal, and should, for the same purpose, examine the bundles of papers pending with each clerk. At each examination he should initial the register. He should keep with him a daily calendar of periodicals posted for the whole year and score off the entries as each periodical is attended to.

He should also examine the disposal list to see if the disposals up to the 3rd day previous at any rate have been sent to the Record-room and the Record-keeper's initials obtained and that there is no undue delay in indexing disposed of files.

59. Check by Head of Office.—Once a month the current registers and disposal lists should be placed before the head of the office or officer in subordinate charge together with a suitable abstract somewhat in the following form :—

Abstract of arrears in the office of
for the month of

	Less than a week	Less than a month but more than a week	More than a month	Names of clerks with heaviest arrears and number of papers pending with each under all heads
I. Pending in the office
Current register for higher offices
Ordinary current register
Petition register
Periodical register
Special registers (if any)

	For more than a month	For more than three months	Names of officers responsible for references more than three months old with number of references pending with each
II. Pending receipt of information from other offices
Current register for higher offices
Ordinary current register
Petition register
Periodical register
Special registers (if any)

III. Number of disposals remaining to be sent to the Record-room.

IV. Number of disposals remaining to be indexed.

V. Number of times the office registers have been examined by the Chief Ministerial Officer.

VIII. CIRCULAR FILES.

60. Each disposing clerk should be required to maintain a file pertaining to his branch of work of rulings issued by Government and other superior authorities as well as by the head of the office. Matters embodied in Departmental Codes and Manuals should be excluded from the circular file. The files should be examined from time to time by heads of offices to see that they are up-to-date and properly indexed for ready reference.

No. 152—E. A. G., DATED 27TH JUNE 1917.

IX. PAPERS NOT COMING UNDER THE DISPOSAL NUMBER SYSTEM.

61. The disposal list in its three series R, D_1 and D_2 and the bundled papers referred to in Rule 52 take up all correspondence inward and outward. The only papers whose disposal is not provided for above are registers, Gazettes and other periodical publications and books.

62. Registers.—A label should be affixed to the outside cover of each register showing the number, name, authority prescribing, volume and period of retention.

Registers must be written in volumes continuously numbered. The practice of opening fresh registers every year when the previous volume contains a large number of blank pages should be discouraged.

63. Stock List and Ledger of Registers.—In every office a stock list of registers should be maintained in a bound book in Form IX (Appendix).

All changes made as regards the form or maintenance of the registers should be immediately noted against the entry concerned quoting the authority in column 4.

A ledger of registers should also be maintained with the following headings :—

1. Number of volume
2. Number of pages
3. Date of opening
4. Date of closing
5. Due date of destruction
6. Date of transmission to record room
7. Shelf in which lodged
8. Initials of Record-keeper
9. Destruction remarks with initials.

The number and name of the register should be written in bold characters at the top of each page allotted to a register.

64. Gazettes.—Where separate rules exist as in the Revenue Department as to the mode of keeping Gazettes, they should be followed. In all other cases the following arrangement should be adopted.

As each Gazette is received, portions of special interest to the office should be detached and eventually bound for preservation. The rest of the Gazette should be put in an annual bundle and destroyed at the end of two years.

65. Newspapers.—Newspapers should be dealt with like Gazettes, that is to say, cuttings must be made of useful matter and the rest of the papers should be filed chronologically and disposed of as waste paper at the end of two years.

66. Other Periodical Publications.—Such publications as can go into the Library should be put therein, the library catalogue being entered up as additions are made.

Administration reports of the departments with which an office has any degree of concern and magazines required for reference should be periodically bound up, the volumes being numbered. The annual reports of all other departments should after perusal be filed and sold as waste paper at the end of two years.

Volumes of the Monthly Proceedings of Government should be unbound and portions of interest detached two years after the period to which the proceedings relate.

The detached portions should be conveniently bound and the rest destroyed.

67. Periodical reports and returns should be filed in annual bundles arranged according to their number and sub-number in the stock list. But in case the correspondence on any periodical has taken a general form which necessitates the indexing of the papers, they should be given a separate disposal number in the appropriate series.

X. RECORD ROOM ARRANGEMENT.

68. When papers are taken out of the Record-room for reference, an entry to that effect should be made in the Record Issue Register to be maintained by the Record keeper and a slip containing the undermentioned particulars of the record should be substituted for every paper so removed. The person taking papers out of the Record-room should be held responsible for returning them as soon as possible. On the return of the papers the slip is to be returned and cancelled.

Record requisition slip

1. Serial number of the issue register
2. The date, number and description of the paper put up,
3. The officer for whom put up
4. The date on which it is given
5. The necessity for the reference
6. Signature of clerk taking it
7. Initials of the record-keeper

The issue register should be in Form X (Appendix).

The register should be periodically examined by the Record-keeper and all outstanding records should be called in by means of a circular note vide Form XI. The note should, before being filed, be submitted to the head of the office.

69. General mode of record arrangement.—A separate shelf or space must be set apart for each department of business.

On the front of the shelf the name of the department to which the papers therein lodged appertain should be printed or written legibly and in bold characters on a thick label to be attached to the shelf.

The front and sides of the shelf in which papers of permanent value are lodged should be fitted with wire work so as to admit of the free circulation of air.

70. Arrangement of papers dealt with under the Disposal Number System.—All numbered disposals whether indexed or not should be arranged in chronological order and put into the record racks or shelves. They should be tied up unfolded in bundles, not inconveniently bulky, between dealwood boards on the upper one of which should be pasted a printed slip of which a specimen is given in the Appendix vide Form XII showing the first and last number in the bundle.

The R, D_1 and D_2 Series should be kept separate but the disposals of different years in the same series must be together.

Registers should be arranged according to their number in the stock list, different volumes of the same register being together.

No. 152—E. A. G., DATED 27TH JUNE 1917.

The arrangement of Gazettes, periodicals, etc., has already been explained.

For the arrangement and disposal of library books, vide rules issued with G. O. No. G. 5203-51—E. A. 4-14, dated 23rd November 1914. It is not possible to prescribe any rules for the periodical destruction of books. The library should be examined by a responsible officer once in five years and all obsolete and unnecessary books removed, the Library catalogue being suitably amended at the same time.

71. Rules for the destruction of records under the Disposal Number System.—Drafting clerks and the ministerial heads of offices and branches should mark on the docket of each disposal file before it is sent to the Record-room whether the file should be permanently retained or destroyed after a term of years, noting in the latter case the year of destruction. The entries should be checked and, if necessary, altered by the officer signing the communication.

After disposal, papers should be entered in the disposal list in the R, D_1 and D_2 Series according as they are to be permanently preserved or retained for a period of ten years or two years as the case may be. These are the recognised periods of retention under the system, but however, exception may be made in the case of papers for which these periods may not be suitable.

72. Destruction of papers should take place once a year at an appointed time and the papers proposed for destruction should be carefully scrutinised by the head of the office. The papers to be destroyed will be:—

(1) Disposals of the D_1 Series of the 11th year preceding, with the exception of those marked for retention for a longer period.

(2) Disposals of the D_2 Series and bundled papers referred to in rule 52, Gazettes omitting portions taken for binding and administration reports not required for further reference of the 3rd year previous.

(3) Volumes of registers ripe for destruction—to be found out by consulting the ledger of registers.

(4) Old records that have become time-barred according to the rules regulating their preservation.

(5) Time-expired periodical reports and returns.

At the time of destruction the fact that a paper has been destroyed and the year in which it was destroyed should be noted in the disposal lists and in the ledger of registers under the initials of the chief ministerial officer. This might be done by a rubber stamp bearing the inscription "Destroyed 19 ."

If at the time fixed for destruction it is considered advisable for some special reason to retain certain files either permanently or for a longer period than ten years, such files should be picked out and carried forward as indicated below either to the R list or to the appropriate D list. Thus the "destroyed" papers listed in 1898 will be taken up for destruction in 1909 and the bulk of the papers will be destroyed in that year. But suppose the following papers are then left over, viz.:—

(a) Papers of 1898 to be destroyed after twelve years, i.e., in 1911.

(b) Papers of 1898—to be destroyed after fifteen years, i.e., in 1914.

(c) Papers of 1898—to be destroyed after twenty years, i.e., in 1919.

(d) Papers to be permanently retained, i.e., those which have been wrongly entered in the list or which the officer in charge considers it inadvisable to destroy.

Now the papers in (a) will be attached as a supplemental list to the D_1 list of the year 1900 which will be ripe for destruction in 1911; the papers in (b) will be attached as supplemental list to the D_1 list of 1903 which will ripen for destruction in 1914.

Similarly, the papers in (c) will form a supplemental list to the D_1 list of 1908. Lastly, the papers in (d) will be attached as a supplemental list to the R Series.

73. Mode of destruction.—All manuscript papers and all printed papers which have not been published should be burnt in the presence of the chief ministerial officer.

Gazettes, newspapers and other printed papers which have been published may be sold as waste paper.

74. The registers and forms required by these rules are the following. Against the former the periods of preservation are noted.

1.	Ordinary current register ...	Permanent
2.	(a) Periodical register ...	10 years.
	(b) Stock list of periodicals ...	Permanent.
3.	Current register of papers received from higher offices.	Permanent
4.	Petition register ...	Do
5.	Register of papers received in camp or tour register ...	2 years.
6.	Personal register of disposing clerk.	Do
7.	Despatch docket sheet.
8.	Disposal list R, D_1 and D_2 Series...	Permanent.
9.	Register of references ...	2 years.
10.	Index register	Permanent.
11.	Monthly statement of arrears.	2 years.
12.	Stock list and ledger of registers ...	Permanent.
13.	Requisition slip.
14.	Record issue register ...	2 years, provided there are no outstanding records.
15.	Printed slip to be pasted on the bundle of disposed records.

Note No. 199, dated the 30th October 1916, from the Secretary for Railways, Government of Mysore, regarding the prospects of the Mysore Steam Tramways Company, Limited, in raising the required capital for constructing a line of tramway on the existing road from Bangalore to Kunigal, a distance of forty miles.

Order No. R. S. 3954-3960—Ry. F. G. 148-16-17, dated 28th June 1917.

The Company, which was registered so far back as August 1914, has been able to raise only Rs. 26,225, against the authorised capital of Rs. 4,50,000, up to the end of September 1916, i.e., in a period of two years from the date of their registration. The Directors now represent that owing to the stringency of the money market due to the European war, much difficulty is felt in raising the necessary capital but that promises of substantial help have been held out to them if the scheme is sanctioned by Government and request that the time for raising the necessary capital be extended for two years from the conclusion of peace and that the money they have collected is enough to start construction on the first section of the line from Bangalore to Nelamangala.

2. Government having carefully considered the representations of the Directors have come to the conclusion that the progress hitherto achieved cannot be considered satisfactory and they, therefore, direct that the concessions given to the Kunigal Steam Tramway in Government Order No. 1265, dated 6th April 1914, be withdrawn.
